HARLEM AMBASSADORS HISTORY & PURPOSE:

In 1997 sports management and marketing executive Dale Moss formed Harlem Ambassadors, a small business with a big mission: to provide non-profit and community service groups with comedy basketball show they can use as fun, family-friendly fundraising events. All the money raised from these events stays in the local community where the event is performed to fund community service projects and assist people in need. Moss assembled a team of young African-American men and women who have played college basketball, earned college degrees, are talented comedians and basketball players, and are good citizens and positive role models for kids.

During the first season in 1998, the Ambassadors performed 30 fundraising events. Over the years, the Harlem Ambassadors' tour schedule has grown to over 220 events each season and includes events in all 50 states and 20 countries and tours to Pearl Harbor, Bosnia, Kosovo, Sarejevo, Korea, Japan, the Marshall Islands, Guam, the Federated States of Micronesia, Germany, England, Mexico, and Canada.

The Harlem Ambassadors show is quality family entertainment for audiences of all ages, from kids to kids-at-heart. Families laugh together at the Harlem Ambassadors' comic antics and are amazed at their high-flying slam dunks. The Ambassadors play against a team comprised of people from the local community, adding to the show's fun and spontaneity and making every event one-of-a-kind.

In addition to providing fundraising events, the Harlem Ambassadors entertain the troops at U.S. military bases overseas and at home and encourage students with their "Stay in School, Stay off Drugs, Don't Be a Bully" school assemblies.
