WASHAKIE COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT #2 May 2019

Levi Collins
Principal

Principal's Corner

We are well into the final quarter of this school year and we are approaching the end of the school year. I am quite proud of all the accomplishments of our students this school year and we want to ensure that our students finish the school year strong. Students and teachers have worked hard on their end of year assessments and we look forward to the results. Rachel's Challenge was an impactful all day assembly/community event and we would like to thank all who participated in the event. Hopefully we come away a little more mindful and a little kinder to others as we work on improving our school and community. We have started a "Chain of Kindness" where kind deeds are written on a link of paper and formed into a chain of similar links of kindness. The goal is to build a massive chain that celebrates and links kind deeds done throughout our school and community. You will see this on display in the school and hopefully add to it as we work at building a better community.

In our policy highlight this month, we would like to highlight Policy 5.24 Make-Up Work Due to Absence or School Activity, which states the following:
The general accepted rule for make-up school work will be 1 school day for each excused absence day. A teacher has the right to extend make-up time if they choose. Students participating in school activities are expected to have all work completed prior to activities or to have made arrangements with the teachers on assignment due dates. The reason we would like to highlight this policy is because we place strong value on teaching our students how to be responsible and to meet deadlines. We understand that emergencies happen and this policy is intended to protect students or families in case of an emergency. In an ideal situation, the student knows they will be absent and requests a make-up slip to be filled out by the teacher in advance with prior plans and accommodations made by student and teacher. We ask parents to help teach our students to be responsible and accountable in working out absences and make-up work prior to being absent, but in case of an emergency policy 5.24 has been written to provide support.

Track is in progress here in Ten Sleep and we are excited to support our student athletes over this season. All of our student athletes are performing well, so show up to the meets when you can and give your support to the students as they compete in their various events. Good luck Pioneers and keep working hard to represent our community!

We ask that you encourage your students in their school work and get involved in their homework and any other school sponsored activity. Studies have shown that increased parental involvement results in increased student achievement. We know that most parents are already quite involved in the student's school life and any additional time shows in your student's growth.

Thanks for your support in making our school and community a great place to be.

With Pioneer Pride, Levi Collins

Help your child reflect on the year and celebrate success

As the school year winds down, it's a great time to help your child look back, look forward, give thanks and celebrate. Here's how:

- Talk to your child's teacher. Ask about your child's strengths and weaknesses. How has she improved? Where does she need more work? Ask what you can do to help your child over the summer.
- Talk to your child about the school year. Ask what she thinks went well. Talk about what challenged her most. Help her figure out what changes she should make for the upcoming school year.
- Review your child's successes. Look over schoolwork you've saved during the year. Point out how much your child has learned—how many new words, for example. Or how she can add and divide. Or how her writing has improved.
- Help your child set learning goals for the summer. Should she spend more time reading? Should she practice math concepts? Guide her, based on the suggestions from her teacher.
- Encourage your child to thank those who have made the year a good one—the teacher, bus driver, librarian, food service worker, etc. This will help her appreciate how many people have helped her.
- Celebrate with a special activity. It doesn't have to be elaborate or cost anything. Just make plans to enjoy some one-on-one time with your child.

Help your middle schooler finish the school year strong

The calendar may be inching toward summer, but it's not vacation time yet! To help your middle schooler stay focused and work hard through the end of the school year:

- Be consistent. Keep enforcing school-year routines for homework and bedtime. Maintain limits for recreational screen time.
- Insist on attendance. Your child may be tempted to skip school, especially on a beautiful warm day. Don't let him give in to the temptation. Showing up every day—right up until the last day—is one of the best things he can do to be successful in school.
- Set specific goals. Rather than sending a generic “keep working hard” message, help your child set a concrete goal. “Science has been giving you trouble all year. How about committing to an extra 15 minutes of studying your notes each night?” Even if it's too late to bring up his grade, it's never too late to reinforce or establish strong study habits.
- Stay connected. Don't assume there's nothing meaningful happening at school just because the school year is winding down. Students are reviewing for important tests and completing end-of-year projects. Continue to monitor your child's assignments and keep reading the information that comes home from school.

Help your high schooler deal with end-of-school-year stress

Your teen has an English test tomorrow. Her history paper is due next week. The math teacher just assigned a huge group project. And your teen has a summer job interview this weekend. No wonder she's stressed!

The end of a school year is a time when many students feel overwhelmed. And, since stressed teens are rarely at their best, they sometimes perform below their capabilities.

The good news is that there are ways you can help your teen deal with stress. You can:

Be a good listener. Sometimes, just giving your teen a chance to let off steam can be helpful. Don't try to “fix” her problems. Just let her talk and really listen to her.

- Ask questions to help her figure out ways to work through the problem. Has she created a study schedule? Is it possible to reschedule her interview? She's more likely to stick with a solution if she's the one who developed it.
- Encourage sleep. Your teen needs sleep in order to function well. A lack of it only heightens the effects of stress.
- Suggest stress relievers. Taking a few deep breaths before an exam or a job interview can make her feel more in control. A brief walk outside can help her regain her focus. Eating a healthy snack will give her energy to keep going. But she should avoid high-caffeine energy drinks. They will only make her feel more agitated.

Vo Ed News

Hard to believe it is that last month of the school year, but also one of the busiest times of the year as well. Students are completing projects and using the skills they have learned very nicely. There is still so much to accomplish in this last few weeks but I can see positive progress each day. As of May 15th all projects will be completed and removed from the shop so that we can start our end of the year inventory, deep cleaning, and preparation for next school year. I am very proud of what the students have accomplished this year and look forward to the progress and new opportunities of the 2019-2020 school year. The opportunities for students at Ten Sleep schools continue to grow and I am very proud to be a part of the process.

Mr. Zollman

Young Authors

Ten Sleep students participated in the Washakie County Young Author's contest this year. Many placed and had a great time attending the Young Author's celebration in Worland on Monday, April 1st.

CSO

Have a wonderful and safe summer! Thank you to all for your continued support of Ten Sleep CSO!

Girl Scouts

Our Girl Scouts sold 2,219 boxes of cookies! Our troop goal was 1,140. The girls did amazing!

The girls also had a special visitor from the Worland Police Department come to their cookie booth at Blair's and they won the Uniform to Uniform Council Contest!

We still have some cookies to sell. If you would like some, please email Jessica Zierlein at tensleepgirlscouts@gmail.com.

Our troop also started the Chain of Kindness for Rachel's Challenge and we will continue linking the rest of the chain at school as it is added to by students, staff and anyone else who would like to spread kindness!

Counselor's Corner

Guidance lesson updates and curriculum:

Kindergarten and first grade- We have been working on honesty, good friendship behaviors, and kindness. We just started our bucket filling unit. Students first learned about saying and doing nice things for themselves to fill their own bucket. We discussed how to fill one another's bucket and have been practicing bucket filling (an imaginary bucket that is filled with good feelings). Students are working on a friendly greeting.

1st grade is also working on a kindness CHAIN. This chain may become the start to the school wide CHAIN OF KINDNESS. The 1st graders are willing to share!

*Mondays, Mrs. Wiechmann meets with the 1st grade girls for lunch to work on kindness. They are excited to have this time to talk together. We've been working on sincere compliments.

Grade 2/3- We been working on speaking with purpose. These students have been role playing positive interactions with peers; for example: asking questions, having good eye contact, and showing you are interested with your body language. We've discussed Red, Green, and Yellow light friendship behaviors and how to know the signs and how to use our words to speak with purpose.

Grade 4/5- We have been working on KINDNESS. Students have been dissecting the idea of respect, giving examples, and quizzing one another. We have started a new unit of "ethics" and "integrity" and we will probably finish the year out with this idea. They are currently reading Rachel Scott's Code of Ethics and having a conversation about what they like about what she wrote. We will then sift through integrity and lead up to writing our own code of ethics.

Grade 6- Mental Health

Students learned about the difference among the helping professions. We have been doing some role plays and learning about what a helpful response would look and sound like. These students are amazing. They are working hard to attend to the material presented, asking good questions, and being respectful and considerate. This group is a real joy to work with.

RACHEL'S CHALLENGE- Rachel's Challenge was on April 15. Students listened to presenter Larry Scott (Rachel's uncle) support the idea of kindness and compassion. His niece, Rachel, was the first victim at the Columbine school shooting in 1999. Rachel's story has touched millions of lives around the country. Larry speaks about how to start a chain reaction of kindness. He challenged our students to carry out kindness daily. Students were left with a sense of unity and humbled by Rachel's amazing courage and sincere kindness she lived by daily.

Friends Of Rachel Club: One of the challenges is for a school to start a FOR club. Students and staff will have their first meeting on April 23. Parents and the community are welcome to attend. Students will get to choose which kindness projects they want to be involved in and then lead the way to make it become a reality. What we do not get accomplished this year, we will continue with in the fall when school starts. Part of Rachel's Challenge is to start a chain reaction of kindness; spread kindness and positivity so our school culture will be affected. One goal is to saturate our school with kindness so there is no room for negativity. We hope that parents and community will push students as well to carry out the chain reaction.

Rachel's Challenge also had a parent/community presentation. Larry spoke to the audience about Rachel's story and her courage to spread kindness and compassion daily. Larry talked about how it all starts in the home; knowing your kids, talking with them, sharing ideas, and speaking with kindness is the start to the kindness chain reaction. Larry asked that we all break down the walls of prejudice. He asked that we seek out those who we need to let know that we care about and tell them how we feel before it's too late. "The only difference between better and bitter is the I" he said. He taught the audience about character and integrity. Kindness is the answer.

We are sad to report that not many community/parents attended the evening session. For our culture to change, it truly is a group effort. Larry supported this idea and spoke about the influences that we all have around us; "make those positive influences because what we surround ourselves with is what we become".

Pioneer PRIDE club:

The Pioneer Pride meets on Tuesdays at lunch time. This April we had Alcohol Awareness month. Jessica Jackson interacted with the club and educated students on the pros and cons of alcohol, peer pressure, and held an interactive discussion with students. April/May we will also do Stress Awareness. On May 8th, the club will attend the Washakie County drug free prevention walk in Worland.

Secret Service Club:

Students embraced National Volunteer Week with a smile. Students sacrificed their recess to lend a hand around the school and library (and hopefully at home). We've been having discussions about selflessness and giving without wanting a receipt. Students helped Ted clean around the school and they helped the library with various tasks. These students are so much fun. They are learning that volunteering isn't work; it is fun when you make your own fun! In May we plan an event to volunteer at a Washakie County facility in need of assistance (in the past, we chose the Humane Society). We are still working out the details of this event.
